Brief Bio of:

Dr. Brenda G. Pitts

2014 Distinguished Sport Management Educator Award

Professor, Sport Management Masters Program, Georgia State University

*Dr. Brenda Pitts is an award-winning scholar and professor, having won awards in research, teaching, and service, and is nationally and internationally known in Sport Management, particularly in Sport Marketing. She is the 2014 Distinguished Sport Management Educator of the North American Society for Sport Management, a Nominee for the 2014 Stotlar Award (Distinguished Educator) of the Sport Marketing Association, and was named a 2014 Research Fellow of the Sport Marketing Association. She was recently featured in the book Women as Leaders in Sport: Impact and Influence (Hums, Bower, & Grappendorf, 2007) as one of the pioneers of the field of Sport Management in the United States. She is the Dr. Earle F. Zeigler Scholar of 2000, recipient of the Diversity Award of NASSM 2012, and one of the first Research Fellows of the North American Society for Sport Management in 2001. Dr. Pitts is currently Professor of Sport Marketing and Sport Management and Director of the Sport Business Research Center at Georgia State University in Atlanta, Georgia; and works as a Sport Marketing consultant in Atlanta, one of which is the world famous Georgia Dome. Dr. Pitts is the Co-Chair for the Inaugural Conference of the World Association for Sport Management, Madrid, Spain, September, 2014.*

Prior to Georgia State University, Dr. Pitts spent 6 years at Florida State University (FSU) and 12 years at the University of Louisville (UofL). At FSU, Dr. Pitts led the restructuring and building of the Sport Management programs at the undergraduate, masters, and doctoral levels. During the 6 years she was there, full-time sport management faculty increased from 2 to 7, student enrollment quadrupled in each program, and the masters and doctoral programs were awarded NASPE-NASSM program approval status. At that time, the doctoral program was 1 of only 2 approved programs in the country. At UofL, Dr. Pitts started their first sport management program. Along with colleague Dr. Larry Fielding (now at Indiana University), during the 12 years she was there, they developed an undergraduate, masters, and doctoral program; faculty number grew from 1 to 4 full-time; and the undergraduate and masters programs were awarded NASPE-NASSM program approval.

In research, Dr. Pitts is distinguished as the Dr. Earle F. Zeigler Scholar of 2000, recipient of the Diversity Award of NASSM 2012, and one of the first Research Fellows of the North American Society for Sport Management in 2001. She is author/coauthor of several sport marketing books, one of which has been translated into Japanese, Mandarin Chinese, and Portuguese for use in South America. One of Dr. Pitts' coauthored books is the first-of-its-kind textbook -- Research Methods in Sport Management (2008). Dr. Pitts is author of over 250 national and international scholarly publications and presentations, most of which are published in several scholarly journals such as the Journal of Sport Management, Sport Marketing Quarterly, Journal of Vacation Marketing, International Journal of Sports Marketing and Sponsorship, Women in Sport and Physical Activity, Sport Management Education Journal, The Sport Management and Other Related Topics Journal, and the International Journal of Sport Management. Currently, the focus of her research includes three areas and are:

- (1) sport marketing with emphases in consumer behavior, spectator analysis, sponsorship and brand awareness measurement, and visitor spending;
- (2) analyzing the state of the current research literature and textbooks in the field of sport management;
- (3) the lesbian and gay sport industry with emphases in tracking the growth and development of gay and lesbian sports and sport business in North America, sport marketing research involving the Gay Games, and consumer analysis for marketing and promotional competitive strategy development.

In education and service for the profession, Dr. Pitts is the 2014 Distinguished Sport Management Educator of NASSM. Dr. Pitts' service work was recognized in 2004 with the awarding of the Dr. Garth Paton Distinguished Service Award from the North American Society for Sport Management in recognition of meritorious service to the professional and NASSM. Some of Dr. Pitts' numerous service accomplishments have included:

- Scientific Chair for the World Association for Sport Management Inaugural Conference, October 2014;
- Founding Team Member for the inaugural World Association for Sport Management (April, 2011);
- Member and Co-Chair of the original committee from 1986-1993 that wrote the first Sport Management Curriculum Standards (first published in 1993) and created the Sport Management Program Review Council;
- Council Member of the first Sport Management Program Review Council (1993-1996) and is a continuing reading member;
- Program Chair of 2 NASSM conferences (manages call for papers, review process, and conference program development: 1992; 1994);
- Co-Director of the 1990 NASSM Conference in Louisville, Kentucky;
- Director of the 2004 NASSM conference in Atlanta, Georgia, June 2-5;
- President, President-Elect, Past-President, Council Member, of NASSM during 1990-1995;
- Founding Member and Vice President of Academic Affairs of the new Sport Marketing Association (selected for this position by the President): November, 2002 – 2005. Some of the duties include Program Director (editorial management of submitted papers) for the conferences for 2003, 2004, and 2005; and Editor-In-Chief for 3 books of selected and refereed papers from the conferences;
- Founder & Co-Director of the first scholarly conference on lesbian and gay sport studies, held with the Gay Games, New York, 1994. Since then, conferences have been held at every Gay Games;

- Helped establish the Sport Management Council under NASPE so that there could be more research outlets for faculty in sport management; today, the Sport Management Council has 2 to 4 sessions under NASPE at the annual AAHPERD conference.

In research related service activity, Dr. Pitts is currently Associate Editor of the Global Sport Business Journal. Earlier, she was an Editorial Board Member (1991-1998) and later Co-Editor-in-Chief of The Sport Management Library (1998-2000), a project that produced over 30 textbooks in sport management, many of which are now in their 2nd, 3rd, and 4th editions. She has served on several editorial review boards of journals or has reviewed papers for journals such as the Sport Marketing Quarterly, The Sport and Other Related Topics Journal, and the Sport Management Review (Australia), the European Sport Management Quarterly, Journal of Sport Management, Sport Management Education Journal, Women in Sport and Physical Activity Journal, Research Quarterly, and the International Journal for Sport Management. Further, in relation to grants and contracts, Dr. Pitts has brought in over a million dollars.

Dr. Pitts' research, speaking, consulting, and service have taken her around the world. Some of these include Sweden, Taiwan, South Africa, Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaysia, Spain, France, Australia, Germany, Hungary, England, The Netherlands, Japan, Mexico, Canada, China, Australia, Portugal, Scotland, Guatemala, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Thailand, Mongolia, New Zealand, and Brazil.

Dr. Pitts hosted a Visiting Scholar from the Shanghai University of Sport, Shanghai, China, Dr. Yi 'Mandy' Zhang. Dr. Zhang studied under Dr. Pitts from December 2012 through May 2014.

Dr. Pitts was an Invited Visiting Scholar to Johan Cruyff University, Holland, April, 2013.

As an avid athlete, and on the more fun side of life, she is always playing and enjoying all kinds of sports, more recently soccer, golf, boating, jogging, tennis and softball. Her favorite is jet skiing with her Welsh Corgi doggie, Jazz. Recently, Dr. Pitts won a couple of golf tournaments, but has made the wise decision to keep her day job. Her earlier prolific career in basketball brought her such rewards as being a professional basketball player in the first Women's Professional Basketball Association (WBL, 1978); the retirement of her high school basketball uniform number; membership in the "A" Club of the University of Alabama; induction into the Huntsville Sports Hall of Fame (Huntsville, Alabama); Induction Nominee of the Alabama Sports Hall of Fame; and induction, as a player in the WBL, the only league inducted into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame, Knoxville, Tennessee. In fact, Dr. Pitts' sports and research were interrelated from the beginning: her 1984 dissertation was one of 2 studies used in the decision in the USA to officially adopt the women's size basketball for competitive play. During 2010, Dr. Pitts' research was used as the basis of research in Slovenia to consider adopting the women's size basketball there.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES

ONGOING DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES

(1) I study the sport business industry constantly which includes, for example, monitoring sport business news, observation of a variety of sports businesses, organizations, and events, and participation in numerous sports, sports events, and businesses as a sports participant, volunteer worker, and consultant.

(2) I attend and actively participate in an average of 3 professional association conferences each year, with a high number of 9 in 1998.

(3) I prepare and present research presentations.

(4) I read current academic and popular press literature consistently.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES at GEORGIA STATE UNIVERSITY (June, 2002 - PRESENT)

(1) One of my courses, Seminar in Sports Marketing Fan Research, has been featured in two articles in 2 different issues of the GSU Magazine (2008, 2010); and in a recent book. The book is titled Experiential Learning in Sport Management: Internships and Beyond, authored by Drs. Susan Foster and John Dollar of Saint Leo University, Saint Leo, FL. and published by Fitness Information Technology, Inc.

(2) For 5 years, I have served as a student paper reviewer for the international travel program and grant. Students who "win" this competition are funded for travel to various countries for important projects around the world.

(3) I participated in a one-day workshop on diversity and research at the university, sponsored and run by the Office of Underrepresented Faculty at GSU; Spring 2011.

(4) I authored and was awarded a technology grant at GSU for 2010-2011 for $16,905.00.

(5) I participated in a series of two 3-hour workshops on the management of grants and contracts, and the management of grant budgets and university budgeting systems during the Spring 2008 semester.

(6) I received a $2,000.00 grant to participate in a 2-day workshop (May, 2005) of the university's Writing Across the Curriculum (WAC) program. The purpose of this is to train and encourage faculty to infuse more writing into their courses.

(7) I started at GSU by teaching two summer courses that were new preps for me. This was difficult because I taught a summer course at Florida State University (where I was leaving) for 6 weeks just prior to this – and I drove back and forth every week. The FSU course ended on June 13 and the GSU courses started June 17 – the very next week. At GSU, I took over the Directorship of a Master's program with 90-plus students and an open second faculty position. I also took over about 15 grants/contracts with local sport businesses. I hired a one-year person to teach for 2002-2003. I did everything for the program including serving on the search committee to try to fill that position. I held a very full work load over the year with very little time for research. So, my first year at GSU was more than full with little to no time for development activities. During the summer of 2002, I was the only sport management faculty in residence working with over 80 graduate students.

My second year was similar. During the summer of 2003, I was again the only faculty member in sport management advising and managing the entire program. We had a retired faculty member teach one summer course for help.

During the summer of 2004, I again was the only faculty member in residence, while the other faculty member spent 6-7 weeks away, I was left to manage the entire program with about 70 students.

In addition, since arriving in June 2002, I have had the additional duty of supervising and managing all internships and practica, with only a little help from a recreation faculty member. None of this work is counted on workload assignment.

Needless to say, between June 2002 and up to April 2005, there was little to no time for special development activities while here at GSU.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES at FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY (July, 1996 – June, 2002)

(1) September 8, 2001 -- I received a $3,000.00 grant from the FSU President's Office. For this, I will develop and teach a special undergraduate course in the Spring 2002 semester. This course will be different from any currently taught. The course is limited to 20 "first-time-on-campus" students.

(2) I participated in a course in Instructional Design (EDG 6925) offered in the FSU College of Education in the Spring 1997 semester. The purposes of the course are to apply instructional design theory to one of my courses and to infuse technology into the course. The course is my graduate sport marketing course. It will be slightly restructured using an instructional design model. I also learned several ways to utilize computer software and technology in different aspects of the course, such as, creating a web site for the course, using the web site for student/faculty interaction, and creating/redesigning course material in Power Point and other software.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES at the UNIVERSITY of LOUISVILLE (1984-1996)

(1) I received a $750.00 grant to participate in a course development program (June, 1995). The purpose of this program was to address issues of gender bias in courses; specifically, to assess and correct where women are oppressed. The program involved attending 10 2-hour seminars during the Fall 1995 and Spring 96 terms.

(2) I received a $500.00 grant to participate in a course development program (10-13-94). The purpose of this program was to prepare me to submit a course for the university's Writing Across the Curriculum program. This involved attending ten 3-hour workshops over the Fall 94 and Spring 95 terms.

(3) During the Fall semester of 1993, I attended every multicultural film and session presented on every Wednesday at noon as a part of the university's diversity in the curriculum program. I wanted to learn more about other populations and cultures in order to be educated and to inform my courses and research.

TEACHING: courses taught at GSU, FSU, UofL and other institutions

COURSES TAUGHT AT Georgia State University, Florida State University, and the University of Louisville: The following is a list of all courses I have taught while at the University of Louisville, 1984-1996, Florida State University, August, 1996-June 2002, and Georgia State University, June 2002 to present. Those courses in bold indicate courses I am currently teaching. At the University of Louisville, I was hired to develop the initial undergraduate and graduate Sport Administration Programs. During the time I was there, the programs were developed, faculty were added, and student enrollment grew consistently. In addition, the graduate program was approved in 1994; the undergraduate program was submitted for review while I was there, then later was approved. Part of my responsibilities at Florida State University included shaping and advancing the curriculum in relation to the curriculum standards with the goal of going through program review. The Master's and Doctoral programs were approved by the Sport Management Program Review Council of NASPE-NASSM in 2000.

UNDERGRADUATE COURSES (bold indicates current assignment):

- (1) Principles of Sport Administration: A 3 credit hour introductory course. (1984-91)
- (2) Analysis in Sport Administration: A critical thinking & decision making course through case analysis and problem solving. (1984-96)
- (3) Sport Marketing: Principles of marketing applied to the sport business industry. (FSU) (1985-current)
- (4) Internship in Sport Administration: Practical experience in a sport industry setting. (1984-93)
- (5) Readings in Sport Administration.
- (6) Administering Health Promotion Programs at the Workplace: A course in the design, implementation, and management of employee wellness programs.(1984-86)

GRADUATE COURSES (bold indicates current assignment):

- (1) Sport Marketing: 1985-current. Advanced theory & aspects of sport marketing.
- (2) Seminar: Sport Marketing Field Research: 2003 - current. Georgia State University. Introduction to practical research; students conduct actual sport marketing research for local sport businesses and events.
- (3) Cultural Aspects of Sport: Summer, 2002 – current. Georgia State University. Overview of socio-cultural issues in sport and sport management.
- (4) Seminar in Sport Marketing: A 3 credit hour doctoral only course offering in-depth discussion of research, issues, and career development in sport marketing. (FSU;1997-current)
- (5) Fiscal Management and Sport: A 3 credit hour graduate course in sport financial management concepts. (FSU; 1996-98)
- (6) Research Methods: Typical masters and doctoral course in research methods. (FSU; 1996-97)

(7) Lesbian & Gay Sport Studies: A 3 credit hour masters and doctoral course. An overview and in-depth look at the lesbian and gay sports industry and the issues that face lesbian and gay people in “mainstream” sports settings as well as their own sports settings. (1997-2002 at FSU)

(8) Research in Sport Administration: This course is designed to introduce the graduate student to current research in Sport Administration and also requires the student to develop a research interest topic, a research question within that topic, to conduct a review of literature in an attempt to answer the question, and to select a possibly appropriate research design to conduct a study. (1988-96 at Louisville)

(9) Issues in Sport Administration: Overview of a wide range of sociocultural, marketing, and economic issues in the sport business industry today. Teaching this course was shared with two other faculty. (summer, 1999 at FSU)

(10) Supervised Teaching in Sport Administration: Introduction to teaching in sport management; supervision of doctoral students who move through an apprenticeship program to learn how to teach and to be a professor; work with the doctoral student teaching some lectures in courses and teaching full-time undergraduate sport management courses. (1997-2002 at FSU)

(11) Case Study in Sport Administration: Advanced case analysis. (1984-96 at Louisville)

(12) Administering Health Promotion Programs at the Workplace. (1984-86 at Louisville)

(13) Introduction to Sport Administration: An introduction to and principles of sport management course. (1984-96 at the University of Louisville; 2002 at Georgia State University)

(14) Internship in Sport Administration: A 3 credit hour field experience course. (1984-93 at Louisville; Spring, 2002 at FSU; all semesters at GSU)

(15) Readings in Sport Administration.

(16) Thesis in Sport Management.

(17) Dissertation in Sport Management.

(18) Independent Study in Sport Administration: supervision of a graduate student’s independent study or project. (as usual, offered on an as needed basis)

Florida State University International Sport Management Program - Summer 2002

In the summer of 2002, the Sport Management program offered its first International Sport Management Program. This was offered through and as a part of the FSU International Programs Office. The first session ran June 20-July 30, 2002 with one week in Paris, France and 4 weeks in London, England. I was elected by the Sport Management faculty as the Program Leader for this first time. However, when I took the faculty position at Georgia State University, I removed myself from this position and the faculty at FSU took it over. This organizational experience, however, could be used in the future to develop a similar program. The following courses were offered.

International Sport Law -- Dr. Annie Clement

Sport Venues -- Dr. Annie Clement

International Sport Marketing -- Dr. Brenda Pitts

Research in International Sport Management -- Dr. Brenda Pitts

Internship in International Sport Management -- both instructors

- () Sport Administration Students Club: Dr. Jimmy Callaway and I were selected by the students to serve as their faculty advisers for their club; November, 2005.

() MEMBER of a special 5-member committee to develop documents and guide the department through another program review (January, 2005 – May, 2005). This year, 4 of 5 programs have been targeted for another review by the Provost. This job is very serious because the outcome has a possibility of termination of these programs, which would devastate the department.

() Executive Director and host for the 2004 North American Society for Sport Management annual scholarly conference. After nearly 2 years of planning and work, involving several students and faculty, the conference was held in June 2002, was hugely successful, and brought significant national and international prominence to Georgia State University.

() Georgia World Congress Center Research Initiative: In September, 2002, I developed a working partnership with the GWCC general managers and their marketing and research directors to conduct consumer and other marketing research on events staged at the GWCC, the Georgia Dome, and the Olympic Park. This also includes Debbie Robbe, faculty in the Department of Hospitality and Tourism in the GSU business school. To date, over 30 studies have been conducted. This project includes students in the program and gives them basic market research skills. Projects have included such events as the Professional Bull Riders, SuperCross, NCAA Women's Final Four Tournament, Atlanta Falcons football, NCAA Men's Division I Regional Basketball Tournament, and the Atlanta Football Classic (an annual game between FAMU (Florida A & M University) and Tennessee State University – two HBCUs.

() Department Chair's Advisory Committee: Full Professor's Group, alternate representative.

() Program Director – June, 2002-July, 2004. Oversee, lead, and manage the sport management program (a masters degree program); brought significant national and international acclaim to the program; increased the average GRE of the program; hired one new faculty member; developed plans for enhancing the current program; begin development of a doctoral program.

() Sport Business Grants/Contracts Coordinator. Oversee and manage the numerous contracts and funds for graduate assistantships with various sport businesses in Atlanta. Now, all faculty share in this responsibility. 2002-present.

() Search Committee, February-March, 2002, to find a faculty member in sport management. Mission was not completed and search held over to the following year.

(11) Developmental Editor for four books of the Sport Management Library II. They are Financing Sport, 2nd Edition; Successful Sport Sponsorship Plans; Successful Sport Marketing Plans; and Economics and Sport.

(12) The Federation of Gay Games. I am now an FGG member (November, 1998) and will serve in 3 capacities. (1) I will serve on the Cultural Committee's Archives and Education Task Force. This TF is responsible for the development of and contributions to the Federation's and Gay Games' Archives, housed in the San Francisco Public Library. (2) I will take on the responsibility of the “Academic” area of the Cultural Committee’s mission. It will be up to me to develop this area. (3) I will continue to organize and direct the Gay Games Conference (I am the founder). The conference will eventually become one of the required events for each Gay Games Organizing Committee and I will be the Executive Director.

(13) Second Gay Games Conference. Held in Amsterdam, July 29-31 with Gay Games V. There were 61 speakers over 3 days (almost 3 times the number in 1994 at the first conference). I assisted in the organizing, presented a paper, and was a speaker for a 3-person keynote panel discussion.

(14) Third Gay Games Conference. The third conference was held with Gay Games VI in Sydney in 2002.

(15) I self-published a book on resources on lesbian and gay people in sport. It is a bibliography including all kinds of resources on lesbian and gay sport studies (see reference listed in my research section). It was the first of its kind. Most of the people who got the book are graduate students, professors, or others who are doing research involving lesbian and gay people in sport or who want to teach about lesbian and gay people in sport in their courses. Therefore, I consider this book to be a service to the field.

(16) Guest reviewer for a sport marketing manuscript submitted to the Women in Sport and Physical Activity Journal, November, 1998.

(17) Reviewer for Jones & Bartlett publishers: reviewed two textbook manuscripts, one was a sport marketing textbook and the other was a case study and sport marketing textbook (January-February, 1998).

(18) Editorial Board Member for the Sport Marketing Quarterly (1997-present).

(19) Reviewer for research abstracts submitted for review for presentation at the 1997 conference of the North American Society for Sport Management, Buffalo, New York, June, 1998.

(20) Guest reviewer for a sport management manuscript submitted to the Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, March, 1997.

(21) Selected as a member of the Panel of Reviewers for SMPRC (Sport Management Program Review Council). The responsibility of the reviewer is to review curriculum folios submitted for review for sport management program approval. Term: July 1997 - current.

(22) Guest reviewer for a sport management manuscript submitted to the Journal of Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, January, 1997.

(23) Elected to serve as the Chair-Elect for the Sport Management Council of the Florida Sports Association (FSA). FSA is a member of the Florida Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation & Dance (FAHPERD). The term is a 3-year term beginning October 18, 1996 and will progress through a year’s service as Chair-Elect, Chair, and finally Past Chair. This person’s responsibility is to coordinate and manage the sport management research sessions at the annual conference.

--- While at the University of Louisville (1984 – 1996)

(1) Sport Marketing Consultant for the NCAA to conduct sport marketing research for the 1996 Division II Men’s Basketball Championship, Louisville, KY, March 1996.

(2) Site Visit Team: Asked to serve as a member of the site visit team for the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities to evaluate the doctoral program in Sport Management at the United States Sports

Academy. However, I couldn't serve because I had worked internationally as a representative of the USSA and that would have been a possible "conflict of interest."

(3) Reviewer for research abstracts submitted for review for presentation at the 1996 conference of the North American Society for Sport Management, New Brunswick, Canada, June, 1996.

(4) Asked to serve with a group of colleagues in sport management to discuss possibilities of founding a professional association in sport marketing. Possibility includes aligning this organization with the American Marketing Association. (January, 1996).

(5) External Scholarship Reviewer in the promotion case of Dr. Joy DeSensi, Associate Professor, University of Tennessee, October, 1995.

RESEARCH, SCHOLARLY, & CREATIVE ACTIVITY

OVERVIEW: My research interests and lines of inquiry consist of four distinct but interwoven areas. These are (1) sport marketing with a focus on sports consumer behavior; (2) lesbian and gay sport studies with a focus on lesbian and gay sports fans; (3) development of sport management curriculum and literature with a focus on examining the state of sport business management research literature and textbooks; and (4) disability sport and sport management. There are many aspects of these areas that are distinctly interrelated. As such, I am able to draw upon knowledge gained from each area to inform my research in each other area. Therefore, my more recent record consists of works primarily in these areas.

My work in sport marketing has resulted in numerous publications, presentations, and several books -- four with a co-author, a Chinese edition, a Japanese edition, a Portuguese edition, one with 5 contributing authors, one with two co-authors, and three edited book of research papers. My work in curriculum and examining the literature has resulted in numerous presentations and papers. This research has been the impetus for others to begin working in this area and now several scholars and academicians have conducted research examining the sport management literature and body of knowledge. Recently, some of the new research has included a study on sport management papers in Iranian journals, a study of Taiwan sport management journal, and a study of sport management literature in Hungary.

() ONGOING: Dome Studies Research Team: In November, 2008, I developed a new Dome Research Team to collaborate on the research conducted at the Georgia Dome over a six year period of time. This team includes: Dr. James Zhang, University of Florida; Dr. Charles Bird, University of Florida; Dr. Doris Lu, Barry University; Dr. Beth Cianfrone, Georgia State University; Carol Lucas, Georgia World Congress Center; some students of the GSU program; and myself. We met in Atlanta in late November, 2008 and organized the mountain of data collected at numerous sports events at the Dome since 2003. So far, our analyses are in progress and include the following (these are rough draft titles):

- > Sport Consumer Market Demand Variables and the Atlanta Falcons of the NFL.
- > Venue Service Quality: An Analysis of Sport Consumer Attitude Toward Quality of Service.
- > Sport Consumer Analysis: The Georgia Dome.
- > Action Attraction: Analysis of Consumers of SuperCross Sport.
- > Economic Impact and Visitor Spending at the Atlanta Football Classic: An Analysis of the African American Sport Consumer.
- > Professional Bull Riding: An Economic Spending Analysis of Spectators.
- > The Women's Final Four: An Analysis of Consumer Spending

() A series of studies are being conducted in collaboration with Dr. Jerome Quarterman and other coauthors in the area of examining the sport management literature. I started this line of inquiry in 2000 with a doctoral student at Florida State University (he is now an assistant professor at Indiana University). Jerome Quarterman joined with me in 2003. Now others have joined: Newton Jackson and Karen Danylchuk. Several studies are underway, have been completed and presented at conferences, and papers are now in the works.

() Pitts, B. G., Lu, D., Ayers, K., & Lucas, C. (2007-present). Sociodemographic factors affecting attendance at the 2003 NCAA Women's Final Four Basketball Championship Games. This paper has been put on hold while we work out some issues.

COURSE BOOKS

(1) Pitts, B. G. (1998) Lesbian and Gay Sport Studies: Selected Resources. 400-plus pages. Available from the author.

This is an annotated bibliography and collection of resources on lesbian and gay people in sport. It was being used in the course “Lesbian and Gay Sport Studies” that I taught while at the Florida State University (Summer terms 1997 – 2002). Currently (August, 2003), I use it as a resource in other classes. In addition, other faculty occasionally request a copy of it.

(2) Pitts, B. G. (1998) Lesbian and Gay Sport Studies: A Reader. Available from the author.

This is a collection of manuscripts in 5 topic divisions on lesbian and gay people in sport. It was being used in the course “Lesbian and Gay Sport Studies” that I taught while at the Florida State University (Summer terms 1997 – 2002). Currently (August, 2003), I use it as a resource in other classes. In addition, other faculty occasionally request a copy of it.
